Lesson 2: Milo’s little café

Screen-free parent plan | About 25 minutes

Bring: Milo, apple, banana, bread (real or pretend), a glass, a tray and a cloth. Print these pages first; put screens away.

One speaking goal: Je voudrais une pomme / une banane / du pain / de l’eau. Review montre / donne. Let Milo model J’ai faim / J’ai soif; understanding those is enough today.

0-4 min | Hello and review

As Milo: « Montre-moi la pomme. Maintenant, donne-moi la pomme. » Try two other familiar foods, then swap roles.

Her turn: Show or give, then tell you or Milo « Donne-moi la banane ! » Help expand a single food word once.

4-7 min | Milo asks for a snack

You: « Tu voudrais quoi ? » Milo: « J’ai faim ! Je voudrais une pomme. » Rub his tummy. Then mime drinking: « J’ai soif ! Je voudrais de l’eau. »

Her turn: Serve the bear. Then invite her to order: « Et toi, tu voudrais quoi ? » Model one request if needed.

7-11 min | Silly Milo gets it wrong

Let her choose and ask for an apple. Milo offers a banana: « Voilà la banane ! » Give him a puzzled look.

Her turn: « Non, une pomme ! » Then try « Je voudrais une pomme. » Correct Milo and serve her choice. One or two silly mistakes are enough.

11-18 min | Open Milo’s café

Milo: « Bonjour ! Tu voudrais quoi ? » She chooses from the tray. Serve her with « Voilà ! » Try four to six short exchanges.

Support fades: whole model, then « Je voudrais… », then a fresh invitation and a pause. End by swapping roles: Milo orders; she serves.

18-23 min | Tell the teddy story

Act out Le goûter de Milo using the script on page 2. Move the bear, pretend to nibble the apple, and mime a sip.

Her turn: Hand Milo the props or join a familiar line if she wants. No questions after every sentence.

23-25 min | One real request and goodbye

You: « Tu voudrais quoi pour ton goûter ? » Milo: « Voilà ! Merci d’être venue au café. Au revoir ! »

Accept the request with the help she needs. Eating or drinking is optional. Finish early if tired; you can omit a middle activity.

The teddy story & your prompts

Everything is spoken live by you. Use the bear and familiar objects.

Le goûter de Milo

1. Milo: « C’est l’heure du goûter. J’ai faim ! »

Rub Milo’s tummy. Let Éva watch; no question yet.

2. Milo: « Je voudrais une pomme. »

Éva can give the real or pretend apple to the bear.

3. Milo: « Merci ! Miam, miam ! »

Make Milo nibble his apple. Enjoy the story without testing.

4. Milo: « Maintenant, j’ai soif. Je voudrais de l’eau. »

Milo looks for his glass. Mime drinking.

5. Milo: « Merci ! Et toi, tu voudrais quoi ? »

Optional invitation: accept a word, expand it into a request, then serve her.

6. Milo: « Quel bon goûter ! À bientôt ! »

Wave together. The story can be read again whenever she wants.

If she says only “pomme”

1. Acknowledge her choice: « Oui, une pomme ! » Pause for a few seconds.
2. Offer a starter if useful: « Je voudrais… » and wait.
3. Model the full request once: « Je voudrais une pomme. » Say it together if she wants.
4. Serve her anyway. Keep playing; do not repeatedly demand a perfect sentence.

Keep the aim small

Several enjoyable attempts matter more than finishing every activity. “S’il te plaît” is optional. New hunger and thirst phrases are for understanding today. There are no screens, recordings, app stages or scores to complete.

Afterwards - one paper note

What did she say, exactly? _____

Help: no help / sentence starter / whole model / not this time

Next time: _____

Tomorrow, invite one real request at snack time. About two minutes is plenty.
